FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1860.

For County Attorney.

We are authorized to announce WILLIAM H. SNELD as a candidate for County Attorney, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of James Monroe. The election to take place on the 13th Monday in August. (April 27, 1860.)

Appointments by the Auditor.

C. BAILEY, Esq., of Henderson, Assistant Auditor, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of JAMES R. WATSON.

JAMES M. WITHERSON, Esq., of Frankfort, is promoted to the position of clerk, with the same salary of the Assistant Auditor.

How the Money Grows.—The Colombo, O., Statesman gives the following sorrowful account of the condition of the Treasury of the Buckeye State:

"But the present admitted condition of our State Treasury—the fact that it is unable to meet a mark as a demand of one dime against it—has aerated the Republican party, and it now stands in all its naked deformity. Its pretense that it had managed our State affairs, through Governor Chase, with great economy, turns out to be a gross deception, the truth being that while it has collected from the people the largest taxes they have ever paid, it has so managed the public affairs as to bankrupt the Treasury of the State of Ohio, and instead of being entitled to the praise and approval of the people of the States, it deserves the severe rebuke and condemnation of every honest man in the land."

The Louisville Courier is of the opinion that if Douglas is elected President in 1860 "the National Treasury will be in as sorrowful a condition as that of Ohio. The little giant will have to many big giants to supply with offices, contracts, &c., that Uncle Sam's money chest can't stand the plumping." We are of opinion that Buchanan's administration keeps on in its present course of plundering, the next President, whether Black Republican or not, will have but a poor chance of exhibiting his qualities for stealing, for "we all know that there is not now, never was, and never will be, enough money in the Treasury to supply the wants of the hungry hordes" of Democratic plunderers.

CHARLESTON CONVENTION.—Nothing of importance has yet been done at Charleston. The Dean Richmond delegation from New York have obtained their seats, and the Wood delegation excluded. The regular Douglas delegation from Illinois, who represent the Democracy of the State, have also obtained seats, and the Danites excluded. The indications are that Douglas will get the nomination. The Platform committee repudiated the Cincinnati Platform by a vote of seventeen to eleven. The Louisville Democrat says "the platform is to be made clear and explicit—tis here but one interpretation." If the Convention succeed in making such a one, it will be an anomaly in the history of Democratic literature. Wonders will never cease.

The Louisville Courier of yesterday says: "If Douglas is nominated the Democracy had as well give up the race, and spend neither money nor time against inevitable late." Now that is decidedly cool for the organ of Kentucky Democracy! The Courier proclaims the defeat of our party in advance upon the happening of a certain contingency, and that contingency is the nomination of one who exhibits great strength in the Charleston Convention, whether he be able to obtain the nomination or not. Mr. Douglas is not our favorite by a long odds. We should not vote for him if we were delegate to Charleston, but we expect to vote for the nominee, and moreover that the nominee will be elected President. Mr. Douglas' friends are recognized at Charleston as Democrats, and we rather think the Courier had better not read them out of the party. Won't you support the nominee?—Yankee of '60.

We will look for the answer to the interrogatory propounded above with considerable interest. Mr. Courier, will you support the nominee? Yes or no?

RESIGNATION.—JAMES R. WATSON, Esq., who has occupied the important position of Assistant Auditor for a number of years, has resigned, and C. Bailey, of Henderson, appointed to fill the vacancy. Of Mr. Bailey's qualifications we know nothing, but understand that he is a gentleman of fine business habits, and we have no doubt will make a good officer, but of one thing we are satisfied, that the office can never be filled more ably, and by one more competent, than the late incumbent. Mr. Watson resigns for the purpose of engaging in other pursuits, and in whatever business he may choose to display his talents, we feel confident that he will be abundantly successful—at least such is our most earnest wish. Success to you, Squire!

A correspondence is published in the New Orleans True Delta, explanatory of "an affair" which nearly occurred lately between Col. S. A. Lockridge and Gen. Wm. Walker. Lockridge and Walker on the street and denounced his late book on Nevaugan as totally false, so far as related to the former, informing him also that he should hold him responsible therefor at an early day. To which Walker answered, "When you please, Sir." Col. Lockridge then sent a note to his friend, R. H. Purdon, which note, it appears, was withdrawn for explanation. In answer to another note, Gen. Walker replied that in his book he did not intend to impugn the honor or courage of Col. Lockridge, "and so the affair ended without an appeal to pistols. Capt. Faysou was Walker's friend."

COUNTY ATTORNEY.—In to day's issue we announce Wm. H. Sween as a candidate for County Attorney, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of James Monroe. Mr. Sween has been acting in that capacity during the illness of Mr. Monroe, and has discharged the duties of the office in a manner highly creditable to himself. He is a young gentleman of fine legal attainments, industrious, energetic, and untiring—qualities that are highly essential in the discharge of the duties of the office. We trust he will be elected by a handsome majority.

CHARLESTON PRECAUTION.—The Charleston Evening News says the hotels will not use beds during the sitting of the Convention, but will put up cots instead, thereby preventing the delegates from sleeping double, and private conversations being divulgued, as in the case of Both and Tyler.

CHANGE OF TIME.—Persons traveling will do well to remember that heretofore the cars from Lexington arrive at 7 o'clock, A. M., and a quarter past 3, P. M.; and from Louisville, at half past 5, A. M., and at 6, P. M. See advertisement.

The Hon. John A. Dix has been offered the post of Commissioner under the Paraguay treaty.

Baltimore Convention.

THE FREEMASON'S ALMANAC FOR 1860.—Masons & Monsurri, publishers of Masonic Works, Louisville, Ky., have placed on sale a copy of this unique work, compiled by Rob Morris, in which we find condensed in 64 large pages, a complete statement of the origin, progress and present condition of Freemasonry in North America, as displayed in Lodges, Chapters, Councils, Encampments, and Consistories; together with tabular synopses, chronological tables, literary announcements and a treasury of Masonic precepts, maxims and historical items of incalculable value.

This is the first Masonic Almanac published in thirty-one years. The last was issued during the year of the head of the anti-masonic excitement and under all the depression of political opposition. Now the gavel of Masonry rings, its jewels gleam, its good deeds fructify in every town, village and hamlet in the land, and the Almanac, before us, is a worthy exponent of the whole.

We give a single instance to show the richness of Mr. Morris' resources in Almanac making. Under the date of April 19, we find the following chronological events, all of a strictly Masonic character:

"1777 Henry Clay born. 1792 Lord Dunleath born. 1854 Grand Encampment of Pennsylvania re-established. 1856 Corner Stone of Monument to Henry Clay at New Orleans planted. 1857 E. Smith Lee, Past Grand Master of Michigan, died." These will be observed are the incidents of a single day in the year. The whole Almanac displays the same inexhaustible treasure.

The price for a single copy is 15 cents, or 10 copies for $1. We heartily recommend it, not only to Freemasons, but to all who are interested in the social history of our nation.

The great drawback to persons emigrating to the extreme South and Western country, is the fear they have of the fever and ague—the most direful of all diseases. Every day we hear of persons attacked by this disease, and made helpless in a short time, without any means of affording relief. In view of the great demand for a remedy Mr. Hostetter has prepared his Celestial Stomach Bitters, whose curative powers for all diseases of the stomach have been universally acknowledged. The Bitters, prepared after a long experience and deep study, have received the encomiums of the most eminent physicians, as well as all classes from every part of our country. To those who doubt their many virtues, all we can say is try them, and judge for yourselves respectively. Sold by druggists and dealers generally everywhere.

See advertisement in another column.

The Annual Fair of the South Western Agricultural and Mechanical Association will commence on the 21st of August, at their grounds near Louisville. This early day has been selected by the directors so as not to interfere with other fairs in this and neighboring States.

Henderson still keeps on hand the best of Noddy Water, with all kinds of Syrup. Our young friend Charly Russell, the account-keeping clerk, will take pleasure in waiting on all customers who will give him a call.

We clip the following paragraph from the Covington Journal, Mr. Breedon has a large number of friends in this city, who will read it with regret:

Mr. Tal. Breedon, formerly of Cincinnati, was shot and severely wounded about ten days since, in the town of Lebanon, Missouri, by some unknown person.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—We understand that Lewis Follett, young gentleman about nine years of age, was killed by lightning on last Saturday, at Peake's Mill, in this county. He was the third son of Capt. Robert V. Follett. Two horses were killed at the same time.

DENOMINATIONAL OPEN IN TEXAS.—Texas is a great State. It has not only a large, growing, mixed population—every variety of climate and soil, game and stock—but its soils have become denominational, if not sectarian, in name, character and spirit. In proof of this we give the following incident: A minister traveling along the road, met a stranger driving his wagon, which was pulled by two oxen; as the minister approached, he heard the driver say, "Get up Prebyterian" "Cee, "Campbellite" "Haw, Baptist" "What are you doing, Methinks?" The minister, struck with the singularity of such names being given to oxen, remarked, "Stranger, you have strange names for your oxen, and I wish to know why such names were given to them." The driver replied, "I call the lead ox, in front Presbyterian, because he is truelike, and always falls to believe in pulling through every difficulty, persevering to the end, and then he knows more than all the rest. The other, which I call Campbellite, he does not pull so well when you let him loose, until he has seen water, and then all the world could not keep him out of it, and there he stands as if his journey was ended." This off ox, behind, is a real Baptist, for he is all the time after water, and will not eat with the others, but is constantly looking, first on one side, and then on the other, and suspects everything that comes near him. The other, which I call Methodist, makes a great noise and a great to do, and you would think that we was pulling all creation, but he don't pull a pound."

The minister, bursting his curiosity, grappled with the explanation given, rode on, wondering what he should next see and bear in Texas. This is no dream, but a fact, as we have heard it, nor are we influenced by disreputable feelings, in telling our readers the ecclesiastical relation of Texas oxen.—True Witness.

FORZI'S PARASOLY.—The Philadelphia Press has carefully prepared article on the Presidency, in which a preference is expressed for Douglas as the Charleston nominee, if he be placed on a genuine squatter-sovereignty platform, from which it is believed the convention will adopt.

"Should, however, we be mistaken in this belief, and the Convention shall, in any manner, change it on this subject, or weaken its force by assuming or following any decision of the Supreme Court adverse to it, or pater with it in any double sense, we are quite sure Judge Douglas would not and could not be its candidate. This is also a foregone conclusion. And if he aims to accept a nomination on any such doubtful or contradictory platform, he could not be elected. All his great popularity with the masses would not save him."

A physician of an acrimonious disposition, who had a thorough hatred of lawyers, was in company with a barrister, and in the course of conversation, reproached the profession of the latter with the use of phrases utterly unintelligible.

"For example," said he, "I never could understand what you lawyers mean by docking an entail."

"That is very likely," answered the lawyer, "but I will explain it to you. It is doing what you doctors rarely consent to—suffering a person to die."

Jonathan said he had two good reasons for talking to himself. In the first place he likes to talk to a sensible man, and in the next place, he liked to hear a sensible man talk.

From the Danville Tribune, April 20.
Kentucky Institution for Feeble-Minded Children.

The Governor has appointed the following gentlemen Commissioners of the new charitable institution established at Frankfort, by the last Legislature, for the education and training of feeble-minded children. The number of commissioners is eighteen—six are required to reside in Franklin county, six in the adjoining counties, and six in the State at large, viz:

John Rodman, T. D. Corneil, Ruth W. Scott, R. C. Anderson, John H. Vaughn, J. M. Lancaster, Franklin county; Dr. J. Paul Rankins, Scott county; H. W. Wain, Woodford county; Dr. John Witherston, Anderson county; Dr. J. Hart, Shelby county; J. G. Leach, Henry county; Dr. R. G. Gale, Owen county; Dr. C. S. Abel, Mercer county; Dr. J. Taylor Bradford, Breckinridge county; Dr. W. S. Chipley, Fayette county; Dr. William Jennings, Madison county; Dr. C. J. Walton, Hart county; and Dr. A. B. Chambers, Callatin county.

The board of Commissioners appears to be a very excellent one, and we hope and believe that under their care, this new and most interesting and valuable institution will soon go into operation and prosper, and become extensively useful.

There are not probably less than eight hundred persons of feeble intellects in Kentucky, for whose relief this institution has been established. Two hundred of this number are perhaps of a proper age to be placed in it for instruction and improvement.

A large building will therefore be required for their accommodation. The Legislature appropriated twenty thousand dollars for building purposes. This sum will not of course build such a house as is needed; but it will make a good beginning, and the State which has been liberal to other charities, will doubt at the next meeting of the Legislature, make an appropriation sufficient to finish the edifice.

We hope therefore, the Board of Commissioners will lay the foundation of a first rate building—not so extravagant, but a substantial and good one, in good taste, susceptible of future enlargement; but adequate to the probable wants of the institution for a number of years to come. It should be large enough for at least a hundred pupils.

Kentucky has distinguished herself in the cause of charity—in the provision she has made for all the involuntary sufferers in her bounds.

She has taken the lead among all the Western and Southern States, in these benevolent enterprises, and has followed close upon the footsteps of the most active of the Eastern States. This new enterprise which she has so readily and generously undertaken will be one of the most interesting and useful of the whole. We trust that it will meet with the continued favor and patronage of the people of the State, until it has been placed along side of its sister institutions in fully developed operation.

Wm. Fisher, of Jessamine.

We were greatly astonished a few days since to learn that Mr. Fisher, the Know-Nothing Representative of this county, who once entertained such a holy horror of the Catholic, was actually giving aid and comfort to that religious persuasion, by sending his own daughter to a Nunner to be educated by Nuns. What change has come over the man? Are the Catholics less numerous or less dangerous to the prosperity of our country now than when he solemnly swore that he would always give preference to a native American over a foreigner, especially if he be a Catholic? How fitly, how unstable are Representative Opposition men. But the party is dead, and with it whatever semblance of principle originally belonging to it. Hence we need not be surprised at any act that may be perpetrated by those who once espoused its cause. So much for Mr. Fisher's practical Americanism.

Nicholasville Democrat.

To the Editor of the Nicholasville Democrat: (If there be any editor at all of that paper)

In your issue of last Thursday, I observe that you were greatly astonished at my sending my own daughter to a Catholic School. When I first saw the article in your paper, I thought I would not notice it, as I have done heretofore in reference to articles in your paper in relation to myself, but when a reply crossed my path I could not refrain from putting my heel upon it.

I last August, and now again. You may have heard me express any horrors towards any religious denomination. But, if I have to give aid and comfort to either Catholic or Democrat, I would greatly prefer the Catholic, and with it whatever semblance of principle originally belonging to it. Hence we need not be surprised at any act that may be perpetrated by those who once espoused its cause.

You say our party is dead. We were long last August, and you will find to your "holy horror" (to use your own expression) that we will be still living next November. You no doubt wish our party dead so that your party could reap all the "spoils" without being watched and exposed.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half million bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of the invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds.
